As we enter into the spring season, it is the perfect time to re-evaluate your personal and professional goals and development. If you are not already actively involved with MaHIMA by volunteering and contributing your expertise to one of our many committees or projects, MaHIMA would like to encourage you to sincerely consider enhancing your professional growth by volunteering.

As an organization that relies on its members to instill growth and change, we encourage you to bring your ideas to the table. We also ask that you take a moment and consider how you can assist in preparing a student for the HIM workforce, whether it is taking advantage of our new volunteer board or through mentoring.

Students, in school we learn about the core components of the HIM field however; we are not taught about the value of networking. Joining MaHIMA provides a wealth of opportunities and teaches you how to network and how it can payoff. By volunteering for MaHIMA, it benefits the individual members and you, by providing you with the opportunity to demonstrate your abilities and pave the way for a successful career path.

I welcome your feedback and suggestions for future content.
As my opportunity to serve as your MaHIMA President for 2012-2013, is coming full circle, I am reflecting upon all that we have done and all that we continue to set out to accomplish! It all began with the transition of a new Administrative Director, swung into the need to plan the first annual meeting in Massachusetts, and amazingly, we re-focus again toward another election. I never imagined that the year would fly by so fast.

The election voting process will begin on April 15th and end on May 3rd. We ask that everyone please be paying attention to the e-alerts and take the time to vote on-line. It is very quick and easy, so please vote!

Last week, I had the opportunity to participate in the AHIMA Leadership Symposium and Hill Day in DC. Delegates, Nancy LaFianza, President-Elect and Ellen MacMullen, Legislative Director joined me. The focus was primarily on the Medicare Audit Improvement Act, bi-partisan legislation proposed by Congressmen Sam Graves (R-MO) and Adam Schiff (D-CA). The bill would amend the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003 to rectify problems identified since the creation of the Recovery Audit Contractor (RAC) program as a part of that law. Many hospitals in particular have expressed deep concern over the administrative burdens being placed on them by Medicare audit contractors.

This bill would reinstate and make statutory a hard cap on additional document requests (ADRs) on the part of Medicare auditors to two percent of hospital claims with a maximum of 500 ADRs per 45 days. This bill also seeks to improve auditor performance with penalties for auditors that do not comply with basic program requirements such as deadlines and issuances of demand letters. The American Health Information Management Association (AHIMA) and the American Hospital Association (AHA) support the legislation, which was originally introduced last Congress in October 2012.

Nancy, Ellen and I were tasked with rallying up support from your Senators and Representatives in Washington on these important issues. I was personally privileged to have met with Senator Elizabeth Warren’s personal Aid and discuss this bill. I know that these issues are tremendously important to our MaHIMA members!

As I mentioned in my January message, the 2013 Annual Conference in Hyannis is well under way and registrations will open up on April 19, 2013. The Board of directors is paying close attention to all projected expenses, anticipated attendance and expected goals. We are pleased with the initial results of vendor registrations thus far, having met our budgeted projections for this point in time. This meeting is a sound step in our journey to right the ship while continuing to provide our membership with valuable educational workshops and seminars.

A few other dates to remember:
- May 9, 2013: Strategic Planning Session
- May 20, 2013: MaHIMA’ 9th Annual Beacon Hill Day & Legislative Seminar with NeHIMSS
- June 19-20, 2013: MaHIMA Annual Conference

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS!!!!! We are in need of a co-chair for the legislative committee. Also, the position of Legislative Director/Delegate will be opening up for the 2013-2014 term. We can always use volunteers as there are several different committees that need help and the work they do is interesting and rewarding, and it is a good way to network with your peers in the HIM profession. Please feel free to contact me a 781-272-8001, or by email at lyoung@aboutams.com.

Have a wonderful spring season!
The Communication Committee has been working to enrich our communications via social media. Our Social Media Team is focused on providing an online interactive forum for members to collaborate and network. We also seek to extending the reach of MaHIMA communication and events beyond its membership. I invite you to join us online.

Topics discussed by the participants include:
- the use of the MaHIMA job bank for internship and volunteer opportunities
- the opportunity for HIM professionals to earn up to 5 CEUs for hosting a student
- creation of a standardized internship model for all Massachusetts based HIM programs
- development of a student clinical practice portfolio
- offering class credits for MaHIMA participation
- student readiness for internships

ICD-10 Update

By: Linda Hyde, RHI

We are now 18 months away from ICD10 implementation and many organizations are well into their planning and implementation activities. The MaHIMA ICD-10 Forum met in February to discuss the agenda for the fourth annual MaHIMA ICD-10 Summit on April 5, 2013, and further develop training plans to identify programs MaHIMA could sponsor to provide ICD-10 education in the state. Anyone who is interested in participating in this forum can contact Sue Marre at susan.marre@steward.org.

The Massachusetts Health Data Consortium (MHDC) launched an ICD10 Collaboration Project in February. The goal of this project is to provide a collaborative environment to leverage MHDC membership resources for a successful ICD10 implementation. An executive steering committee was formed and is comprised of executives responsible for ICD-10 implementation across providers and health plans as well as government, and other stakeholder organizations. The Consortium is in the process of hiring a project manager to provide support as well a finalizing the project charter and timelines. Meetings are held monthly and if you or your organization is a member of MHDC and you would like to participate in these meetings please contact Stacy McKenna at smckenna@mahealthdata.org.

MaHIMA Coding Webinar- CAC ICD-10 and the Changing Role of the Medical Coder

"CAC, ICD-10 and the Changing Role of the Medical Coder" by Leo Schafer, Clinical Information Consultant, Computer-Assisted Coding and Coding Services.

Come and explore the reasons why CAC technology is an advantage in healthcare especially with the upcoming deadline for ICD-10. Learn how NLP works to find the right code. CAC will change the role of the coder and you’ll see how to take away the uncertainty & fear of the coders facing their new roles. A demonstration of a CAC system to show how CAC streamlines coding and can incorporate Local Coverage Determinations, Correct Coding Initiatives and automatically report on RAC audit issues. Learn some of the differences between ICD-9 and ICD-10. I also discuss what was learned in New Zealand in 1998 after one year of coding both ICD-9 and ICD-10 and how they used CAC for ICD-10 Clinical Documentation Improvements. We finish with recommendations on how to prepare and implement CAC.

Citation Confusion

By: Sherisse Monterio, RHIT

Every student struggles with how to cite your references in a research paper. Most programs are still requiring APA or MLA style and because most research is done on the web it’s likely that you need to figure out how to cite websites, web journals and other web media.

First, I would recommend asking your teacher or professor for a known book or website that can help you identify the types of references you have and then how to appropriately and accurately cite them using the style required by your program. For example the Purdue Online Writing Lab website is a great resource. If you’re like me, you may want an actually book that you can carry around with you. I used the 5th Edition Pocket Style Manual by Diane Hacker. It is spiral bound, small and well organized.

Secondly, I recommend using websites that tell you how to reference their work like AHIMA. At the end of every AHIMA Journal Article is a reference on how to cite that particular article.

In this case the work is already done for you! Lastly, I recommend you stay after class or send a short email to your professor showing your reference work and asking for some feedback. Educators appreciate this as they don’t like failing anyone for plagiarism just like no one likes to fail because of plagiarism.

It may seem silly but would you like someone to take credit for your work? Of course not, so take citing references seriously and it will likely pay off with a passing grade.

Attention Students:

Jump start your career by attending the 2013 MaHIMA Annual Conference and Job Fair on June 19th thru the 21st at the Cape Cod Resort and Conference Center in Hyannis, MA. This event will feature Julie Burke, Human Resource Business Partner at New England Sinai Hospital speaking about job searching techniques and more. “Stay Connected” for more information!

Benefits of Attending

- Speak with representatives from a variety of career paths in Health Information Management including coding, informatics, compliance, operations, and more.
- Gather first-hand information about the responsibilities/tasks of various careers and the skills employers are looking for.
- Discover volunteer opportunities, internships, part-time jobs and full-time employment.
- Practice speaking professionally and expand your career network.

Preparing for Career Days/Job Fairs

- Update your resume and bring copies with you.
- Prepare a short script (just 2 or 3 lines) to introduce yourself with. Practice it and a firm handshake. In your script, try to include why you are interested in that company and the kind of position you’re seeking.
- Generate questions you would ask recruiters based on whether you are trying to choose a major/career, exploring career directions, or looking for internships and employment.
The Department of Health and Human Services published the Final Rule of the HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) Privacy Rule in January, 2013. The long-awaited new guidelines provide clarity to previous rules which govern how individuals' health information is used and protected. "Much has changed in health care since HIPAA was enacted over fifteen years ago," said HHS Secretary Kathleen Sebelius. "The new rule will help protect patient privacy and safeguard patients' health information in an ever expanding digital age."

HHS provided these highlights in their summary of major provisions included in the Federal Register notice published on January 25, 2013:

• Make business associates of covered entities directly liable for compliance with certain of the HIPAA Privacy and Security Rules’ requirements.

• Strengthen the limitations on the use and disclosure of protected health information for marketing and fundraising purposes, and prohibit the sale of protected health information without individual authorization.

• Expand individuals’ rights to receive electronic copies of their health information and to restrict disclosures to a health plan concerning treatment for which the individual has paid out of pocket in full.

• Require modifications to, and redistribution of, a covered entity’s notice of privacy practices.

• Modify the individual authorization and other requirements to facilitate research and disclosure of child immunization proof to schools, and to enable access to decedent information by family members or others.

• Adopt the additional HITECH Act enhancements to the Enforcement Rule not previously adopted in the October 30, 2009, interim final rule, such as the provisions addressing enforcement of noncompliance with the HIPAA Rules due to willful neglect.

• Final rule adopting changes to the HIPAA Enforcement Rule to incorporate the increased and tiered civil money penalty structure provided by the HITECH Act, originally published as an interim final rule on October 30, 2009.

• Final rule on Breach Notification for Unsecured Protected Health Information under the HITECH Act, which replaces the breach notification rule’s “harm” threshold with a more objective standard and supplants an interim final rule published on August 24, 2009.

• Final rule modifying the HIPAA Privacy Rule as required by the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act (GINA) to prohibit most health plans from using or disclosing genetic information for underwriting purposes, which was published as a proposed rule on October 7, 2009.

This final rule is effective on March 26, 2013 and covered entities and business associates must comply with the applicable requirements of this final rule by September 23, 2013.

Pat Rioux, RHIT recently provided clinical quality measure reporting consulting for Lowell-based DiagnosisOne, a division of Alere, for the clinical content team’s production work for Meaningful Use Stage 2, HEDIS 2013 and PQRS. Previously she spent five years working for eClinicalWorks, a market leader in ambulatory electronic medical record solutions based in Westborough, Massachusetts.
To FAX or not to FAX ......that is the Question!

By: Martha Hamel

BEST Practices – Faxing Guidelines and Reminders

Before transmitting a fax, always ask yourself “does this really need to be faxed?”

Protected Health Information (PHI) and Personal Information (PI) should only be released by trained staff via fax in the following circumstances:

- Urgent Treatment and Care purposes (continued care, etc)
- Payment (third party payer inquiries)
- Specific request by a patient or provider

Remember: A fax should always be accompanied by a completed Fax Cover Sheet containing:

- Date
- Recipient’s name, fax number and telephone number
- Sender’s contact name, department and telephone number
- Number of pages (including cover sheet)
- Any special instructions
- Confidentiality statement

When sending a fax, be sure to:

- Verify recipient’s fax number
- Alert the receiver that you are sending a fax
- Only send the minimum amount of information necessary to complete task
- Confirm that the fax was successfully received either by the communication result report or phone call

If you receive a fax in error:

- Immediately contact the sender
- Destroy the document or return to sender
- If repeated faxing errors come from the same sender, contact your Privacy Officer or Compliance Department so they can investigate further

Patient Requests for Copies of their Medical Records:

- Follow your entities guidelines for releasing medical records
- Only those whose job it is to release information should be doing so!
